

Journalism Second Major

Course requirements for a second major in journalism (news-editorial or public relations) are the same as for the first major. Substitutions for course requirements may be made with the approval of the journalism division coordinator.