

History Minor

A minor in history at the master's level consists of four courses in history as approved by the departmental graduate advisor or the head of the department.