

JEDI: Justice, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Undergraduate Certificate

This program considers issues of justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion. We will examine justice, cultural competence, and human diversity through an interdisciplinary social science lens to address the following questions: How do we experience and understand cultural differences? How do these differences shape systems that affect individuals, families, communities, and society? How do we develop the competencies needed to navigate cultural differences in a global world and multinational states? What are the impacts of these considerations on justice? Students will broadly explore the contours of social and cultural differences and their relationships with race, ethnicity, culture, gender, sexuality, social class, power, inequity, and justice. Students will learn standard cultural competence models to understand the complexities of human diversity and cultural competence in modern society.

To earn the certificate, students will complete 12 semester hours in academic coursework (see the list, below). Students must also complete 5 points acquired from co-curricular, course-embedded, or immersive experiences. Finally, students must participate in the JEDI Showcase at the end of the academic year to earn 2 additional points to complete the certificate.
